SUPPORT FOR NEXT-GEN GAMERS

MONIQUE VAN DER HEYDEN

A NEW program aims to break down barriers and attract more diverse developers into the state's gaming sector.

Adelaide Economic Development Agency is partnering with Pirie-street based Game Plus to create a support program for people not typically represented in the gaming world.

This includes women, people of Aboriginal heritage, and LGBTQIA+ communities. "With the help of AEDA, Game Plus will connect members of the program with the people, resources, and opportunities they need to truly prosper," Game Plus team leader Jarrod Fairquhar-Nicol said.

The Game Plus support program is open to early career practitioners, as well as people interested in visual effects, screen, virtual reality and graphic design.

Successful applicants receive a place in the Game Plus co-working space, marketing support and industry guidance.

Game Plus member Katie Abela looks forward to welcoming more gamers through the program. "Game Plus has provided my team and I with a great working space to develop our games and even release our first game, Frontier Quest, as well as allowed us to meet some great people who work in the industry," she said.

Applications close on August 31. Details: gameplus.com.au/gp

NAIDOC Week in Rundle Mall

- ‘Get up! Stand up! Show up!’ was the theme of NAIDOC Week 2022, which encouraged Australians to show up in support of Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander communities fighting for systemic change and celebrating those who have driven reform over generations.
- The activity was launched on Tuesday 5 July in Gawler Place with the unveiling of this year's artwork by emerging Aboriginal artist Iteka Urkala Sanderson-Bromley.
- An exciting and immersive schedule of live entertainment and activities followed which included live music, a beading workshop, face painting, native food tastings and the opportunity to meet and hold Australian animals.

Organic Bin Launch Rundle Mall

- The City of Adelaide in partnership with Green Industries SA and the Adelaide Economic Development Agency has launched Australia's largest green bin trial in a retail precinct.
- For the first time, designated green organic bins for food scraps and compostable materials have been introduced to Rundle Mall to reduce the amount of waste sent to landfill and recover more resources.
- The 12 month pilot project was launched on 1 September 2022.

Rundle Mall retailer events

- On Sunday 18 September, Rebel Sport hosted legendary basketball player Patty Mills for an on stage Q&A, and competition to have a meet and greet.
- A half court basketball set up and DJ provided entertainment for the crowd in the lead up to the appearance.

- British icon JD Sports opened its newest store in Rundle Mall on Thursday 18 August.

KMPG Rundle Mall Program Review Update

The plan addressing the recommendations and actions from the KPMG Performance Review is continuing to be implemented with 24 of the 28 actions identified in the Performance Review implemented. The remaining 4 actions are:

- Commission a review to establish Rundle Mall's brand context. How is Rundle Mall positioned vs competition. Include best practice review of interstate centres and precincts
- Revisit the Rundle Mall masterplan and advocate for future developments to reinforce Rundle Mall as South Australia's Premium Retail Precinct
- Commission a brand reputation review
- Conduct consumer research into the activations and incentives that would improve the customer service experience

These actions have been collated to be part of the broad strategic initiative with consultants being engaged to conduct consumer research and reviews.

Inaugural AFLW Showdown

The Inaugural AFLW Showdown was held at the Adelaide Oval on Friday 30 September 2022

AEDA worked closely with Department of Premier & Cabinet to promote the event through email, print, and social media channels.

In addition AEDA developed a dedicated web page within the Experience Adelaide which promoted all the city hospitality venues within walking distance of Adelaide Oval, with the purpose of driving spend pre/post match.

To support the event, Rundle Mall hosted local DJs, mascots Thunda and Claude, set up a photo booth with AFLW players (cardboard cut outs) and provided the opportunity for members of the public to see First Nations artist Mali Isabel at work.
